OTTAWA (CP)—J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, president of the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.), said today he had called a special meeting of the union executive in Ottawa Tuesday to consider proposals advanced by the Dominion Marine Association, which announced Saturday it was prepared to reduce working hours, effective at the opening of navigation in 1947.

Winter Visitor Wins Sweepstake House

Miss Janie Ramsay of Montreal was trying to decide today what to do with the $8,500 home or cash which she won, Saturday, in the Kitchener War Memorial Centre Sweepstake.

For the last six years, Miss Ramsay has spent her winters in Victoria staying at the Empress Hotel. She plans to become a permanent resident at the coast but doesn't think she will live in her new house in Vancouver. Instead, she has almost made up her mind to take the cash.

Miss Ramsay couldn't remember just when she bought the lucky ticket. She recalled having paid $1 for it and added she "probably bought several because I always take tickets for everything."

Capt. 'Bob' Bartlett, Karluk's Skipper, Peary's No. 1 Man, Dies

Death in New York Sunday of Capt. Robert A. "Bob" Bartlett, 70, recalled his expedition in 1913 from Victoria to the Arctic aboard the Karluk. "Captain Bob," as he was affectionately known, was associated with the Canadian explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

"Captain Bob" spent some time here as the Karluk was being outfitted by the navy at Esquimaux. After his ship had been crumpled in the ice and many of the personnel lost he made a spectacular dash across the ice to Siberia and was brought out by the U.S. coast-guard cutter Bear. On his arrival in Victoria in the summer of 1914 he gave the first account of the loss of the Karluk to his old friend, the late Capt. J. M. Whiteley, who was one of the Victoria pilots.

MOST SPECTACULAR FEAT

"Captain Bob" said that his escape was the most spectacular adventure of his career. After Stefansson had landed at Point Barrow, Alaska, the Karluk, was jammed in the ice floes and carried along the Siberian shore. Foreseeing the craft probably would be crushed, Bartlett unloaded enough provisions for two years and left them on the ice. The vessel was crushed to pieces Jan. 12, 1914, when she had drifted to within 125 miles of Wrangell Island.

Bartlett led 17 men, an Eskimo woman and her two children to the island, transported the provisions there and then, accompanied by only an 18-year-old Eskimo boy, set out on foot for help.

U.N. Committee Set Up to Study Franco Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Nations' Security Council, with Russia abstaining, this afternoon adopted a compromise resolution setting up a subcommittee of five members to investigate charges against the Franco government of Spain. Ten affirmative votes were cast.

Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko kept his hand down when the vote was taken on a resolution which would require the subcommittee to report by May 31.

Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, chairman and Egyptian delegate, then named Australia, Brazil, China, France and Poland as members of the subcommittee.

The Council then adjourned at 3.36 p.m. with the date of the next meeting to be announced by the chairman.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, had told the Council that any commission appointed to study the Franco case should report by May 31 to make sure that it "really works and does not merely shelve the questions."

Town Planning Commission To Discuss Site for Civic Centre

The question of an appropriate site for a civic centre will be the main item for discussion at Friday's meeting of the Town Planning Commission, Forrest L. Shaw, chairman, said today.

The question of establishing some centre where such buildings as the proposed new city hall, the new library, the civic recreation centre, the new fire station and market building has been one which has caused much discussion, particularly during the past few months.

The site most frequently mentioned as ideal for all these buildings is at Pandora Avenue and Blanshard Streets, which could fit in nicely with the erection of the Memorial Arena farther up Blanshard Street. The desirability or otherwise of placing the city hall there, or reserving it for a recreation centre will probably be the occasion for argument Friday night, Mr. Shaw surmised.

An alternative suggestion which had received considerable support is to keep City Hall square for the main administrative buildings, erecting a new city hall on Douglas Street in front of the present police station. Then the fire hall and market would be moved, the fire hall to be built up on Blanshard and Pandora, with the police station being allowed to expand into the present fire hall which would meet with the need for more space there. The present city hall site, in this plan, would be used for the new library building, which is also on the schedule of things to come in Victoria.

What suggestion will meet with the approval of the Town Planning Commission is not yet known, because neither of the proposals which call for placing a new city hall either on Douglas Street or Pandora and Blanshard include a site for the hoped-for civic recreation centre, which is expected to figure in the Town Planning Commission's discussions.

The two, R. K. and E. D. Leard of Waukesha, Wis., who took off in a light plane for Grande Prairie, were forced down by lack of fuel and trudged 150 miles through wild timberland to reach the river.

Shotgun-Wielding Burglar Wounds Nanaimo Policeman

Caught in the act of breaking into the Whittingham store on Nanaimo's waterfront early this morning, a shotgun-toting burglar wounded B.C. police Constable D. Colquhoun and escaped. A "general alarm" constable posse was called immediately to track down the assailant.

Colquhoun was on patrol duty when he saw the figure of a man at the rear of the store. As he approached to investigate there was a shotgun blast and pellets peppered a fence nearby.

One pellet penetrated the policeman's jaw and another ripped through his hat.

Although painfully but not seriously wounded, the constable quickly fired three times at the fleeing figure. The shots apparently missed.

The burglar had drilled two holes in the door of the store and when surprised by the constable, left behind a set of burglar tools including a brace and bit, jimmy, and other paraphernalia which are being inspected for finger prints.

The policeman was given first aid treatment at hospital, and went back on duty with the posse.

Glider in Far North

Members of Exercise Muskox are shown above unloading supplies and a new motor from a glider which has just come down. The unloading was completed in half an hour and the glider was then "snatched" up by a Dakota plane to return to its base. The motor was for one of the snowmobiles. The exercise is nearing the end of its 3,100-mile operation which is expected to be completed at Edmonton early in May.

A snowmobile of Exercise Muskox, suspended by pulleys, is shown being recovered from a treacherous crack in the pressure ice near Port Radium, N.W.T. The vehicle crashed through a wide gap in the ice as the expedition raced to beat the spring break-up. Near Norman Wells the exercise hit some of the toughest traveling since it left Churchill.

Five Cars of Meat Expected Instead of Usual Thirteen

The meat picture brightened slightly this morning.

Three and one half cars of meat, containing some beef, arrived in the city and while many trays in the retail meat shops were empty, majority of proprietors expected to remain open all week.

Of nine stores canvassed, only one had closed its doors for three days, another expected to be open four hours today and the remainder all day. Cooked meats, fowl and lamb will help tide them over until the beef becomes more plentiful, some dealers say. Customers, however, will not get all they want.

The city's five meat packing houses expect to receive but five cars this week, as compared with normal shipments of approximately 13. Representatives here have been given no indications as to when the beef supply might increase.

Belief that the cattle-raiser would cooperate, since the packers have stipulated what prices they will pay for live beef was expressed by one wholesaler today.

"I think we may get in normal supplies next week for the cattle-raiser has to sell his cattle some time," the wholesaler said. "We don't have any beef this week, but had a half car of meat in today and expect another half car Tuesday and a full car the end of the week. Normally, we bring in four a week."

He expects arrival of 4,000 pounds of lamb the end of the week. Another packer received one car with the usual amount of beef, veal and other types of meat, but usually gets two cars on Monday. One-third of his usual quota is expected this week by

Foreign Ministers Facing Test On Italian Issues

By ROSS MUNRO

PARIS (CP)—The Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference today moved into a critical phase with controversial aspects of the Italian peace treaty up for discussion. It was believed the outcome of these discussions will indicate whether the meeting will be a success or a dismal failure.

The future of the Ruhr and the Rhineland and the peace settlement for Austria are other highly inflammable issues which France and the United States respectively are seeking to bring up as the conference settles down to its heaviest tasks.

Foreign Secretary Bevin returned from London, where he met Dominion representatives Sunday, and his arrival heralds the launching of the most difficult period of the conference.

Mr. Bevin now has full knowledge of British Commonwealth leaders' opinions on the subjects coming up.

The future of Italy's colonial possessions in North Africa and of the Dodecanese Islands in the Mediterranean was on the day's agenda, along with other phases of the Italian peace problem.

But U.S. sources said it was doubtful if there would be time to discuss the disputed Yugoslav frontier and Trieste issues.

Agreement was reached Saturday on a limitation for the Italian fleet of the future which would include four cruisers as its largest ships.

Windsor Hotel Block Sold For $50,000

Windsor Hotel Block at Government and Courtney Streets, which contains a few feet of the original Victoria Hotel, first brick building erected in Victoria in 1858, was sold to Home and Western Canadian Properties Ltd. for a sum in the neighborhood of $50,000, according to announcement of L. W. Slade, Pemberton, Holmes Ltd., today, acting for both purchaser and vendor.

The property contains 42 feet on Government, running through to Gordon Street, with 133 feet facing Courtney.

At present the block contains an 18-room hotel at 602 Courtney and the showroom and warehouse of Crane Ltd. at 901-905 Government. The new owners plan to remodel the building into stores and offices, Mr. Slade said.

Bricks were brought round the Horn for erection of the original hotel for George Richardson, but little of the building is left. Windsor Hotel itself and the building occupied by Crane's were erected in later years.

Sale of the Windsor brings to eight the number of Victoria hotels which have changed hands in the past six months.

Income Tax Cut; Contributory Social Security

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King today told a plenary session of the Dominion-Provincial Conference that if the federal proposals to the provinces are accepted personal income tax will be lowered and "the government also intends to reduce the element of double taxation of corporate income with its tendency to discourage risk-taking enterprise."

Addressing the conference as it met in open hearing for the first time since last August, Mr. King reviewed the Dominion proposals as modified at the camera meetings and offered some new changes in the light of developments at the current meetings which began Thursday.

"In its proposals as they now stand, the Dominion government feels that it has gone as far as it possibly can in the light of its very heavy financial obligations," Mr. King said.

"While we have not shut the door to possible alternatives or adjustments, any modifications will have to be on the basis of financial equivalents."

The federal government was ready to withdraw from the gasoline tax field if the provinces were ready to accept reduced subsidies or if the Dominion was allowed to withdraw its offer to pay 50 per cent of the cost of pensions to needy persons between 65 and 69. It was estimated the pensions would cost the Dominion about $20,000,000 annually.

The government was ready to give up the amusement tax if the provinces agreed to forego

$15 Per Capita Subsidy Basis

"Here, may I indicate something of the tax policy the Dominion plans to follow should agreement be effected on the basis of the Dominion proposals."

"In respect to the personal income tax, as now levied, the government is prepared to say that, once the Dominion proposals are accepted, and the risk of having Dominion policies nullified by provincial policies having contrary economic effects is thereby avoided, the government intends to make further reductions in the personal income tax."

"In the same circumstances, the government intends to reduce the element of double taxation of corporate income with its tendency to discourage risk-taking enterprise."

"It is intended to meet a part of the Dominion's share of the cost of the broad extension of social security, included in the Dominion proposals, by means of direct personal contributions."

Mr. King did not indicate the rate of such contributions, but Health Minister Claxton is reported to have informed the provinces the Dominion planned a 5 per cent tax on wage earners to cover the social security costs.

Mr. King confirmed reports the Dominion had increased its original proposed per capita subsidy from $12 to $15 per capita. This subsidy would be paid to the provinces for withholding from the income, corporation and succession duties field.

He said that any province which wished to continue collecting succession duties could do so on condition that the subsidy payments are reduced accordingly.

Referring to the fact that the conference was meeting in the open for the first time since last August, Mr. King said:

"It is, I believe, all to the good that the exact position of the several governments should now be made known to the public in the words of their own representatives."

The $15 per capita subsidy would be based on the 1941 actual or 1942 estimated population of the provinces, whichever is the greater. The value of gross national production as averaged over the last three years would be used to calculate the irreducible minimum.

Dealing with the proposals, Mr. King made these points:

1. If a province wished to continue to levy succession duties, the succession duty amounts payable by a taxpayer to that province will be treated as a credit to the taxpayer against amounts due under the Dominion succession duty; the credit will be limited, however, to the amount which would have been payable to that province under its 1946 succession duty rates and conditions of liability. The total annual payments to the province, by the Dominion, under the agreement would be reduced by the amount of such credits.

2. The statutory Dominion subsidies will continue to be paid, but will be included as part of the specified annual payments to be made by the Dominion under the agreement.

3. The provinces may tax mining and logging operations either through royalties or taxes on the net profits from such operations. For the duration of the agreement, the Dominion will recognize such levies as an expense deductible from income for Dominion tax purposes.

4. The Dominion is prepared to seek a constitutional amendment permitting delegation of powers from the Dominion Parliament to the provincial Legislatures, or vice versa. Once an agreement is made, the Dominion government will request Parliament to delegate to the provinces, for the duration of the agreement, the right to levy retail sales taxes within limits to be specifically defined.

5. The Dominion will undertake, for the duration of the agreement, not to enter the fields of real estate taxation and automobile licenses now exclusively occupied by the provinces.

6. The Dominion will undertake, for the duration of the agreement, not to increase its

30,000 Chinese Communists Took Changchun In 4-Day Fight

The following eyewitness account of the fall of Changchun, was dispatched by Tom Masterson, Associated Press correspondent who was trapped in the Manchurian capital when Chinese Communists attacked it. Masterson and six other Americans in Changchun have been reported safe, but their immediate whereabouts are unknown.

By TOM MASTERSON

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria (Delayed AP)—Thirty thousand Chinese Communist troops swept through weak government defenses and captured this Manchurian capital April 18 after a ferocious four-day battle, which ended when the National Army commander fell wounded in a heroic but futile sally from his blazing headquarters.

The Communists immediately plunged southward to meet the American-equipped Chinese government 1st Army which is attempting to advance to Changchun.

The Communists are still rooting out a few pockets of diehard government troops scattered about the city, but they expressed the hope today that true terms might soon arrive from Mukden to stop the fighting and straighten out the Manchurian muddle.

"These hopes proved vain, dispatches from Chungking today—nine days after this dispatch was filed—saying peace negotiations had broken down."

Whether the new government 1st Army, still reported some scores of miles south of Changchun, will be able to recapture the city remained to be seen. It must put up a stiffer fight in any event than did the hapless local "Peace Preservation Corps" and the small cadre of regular troops who were overwhelmed here two days ago.

The defence forces consisted of 10,000 poorly-equipped men, including puppet Japanese troops as well as local conscripts and government soldiers.

Up to 30,000 Communists assaulted the city the night of April 14, two hours before the last Soviet soldiers withdrew from the city.

Ontario Will Rent Income Tax If Dominion Will Quit 5 Fields

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier George Drew of Ontario today told the Dominion-Provincial Conference his government is prepared to rent the personal income and corporation tax fields to the federal government if the Dominion agrees to give up succession duties and five other fields of direct taxation.

He spoke after Prime Minister King had asked the provinces to give up the income, corporation and inheritance taxes in return for an annual subsidy of $15 per capita.

Mr. King said any province which wished to continue collecting succession duties could do so, but payments would be reduced accordingly. The Dominion would also get out of other fields, such as gasoline and amusements, if the provinces accepted reduced subsidies or withdrawal of some proposed federal grants.

SETS OUT CONDITIONS

Mr. Drew said his government would temporarily rent income and corporation tax rights to the Dominion on these conditions:

1. That the Dominion government vacate and undertake not to re-enter during the term of the agreement the following fields of taxation—succession duties, gasoline tax, amusement tax, race track pari-mutuel tax, security transfer tax and electricity.
2. That the Dominion recognize priority of provincial taxation with respect to mining and logging operations.
3. That the Dominion give a definite undertaking not to enter any field of direct taxation other than personal and corporation income taxes for the life of the agreement.
4. That the subvention hold-backs, made up of money deducted from time to time by the Dominion government under the wartime tax suspension agreements, and amounting in Ontario's case to $28,964,039, be paid to the provincial governments.

NO RIGHTS SURRENDERED

"It shall be clearly established by explicit terms in the new agreement that in agreeing to rent the fields of corporation and personal income taxes, during the term of the agreement, the provinces shall not be deemed to have surrendered, abandoned, or given over to the Dominion government any of the powers, rights, privileges or authority vested in the provinces under the terms of the British North America Act, 1867, or any subsequent act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom or otherwise to have impaired any of such powers, rights, privileges or authority."

6. The Dominion government to make available to the provincial governments and municipal councils foreign exchange required to meet their existing external obligations in the United States at parity of exchange.

7. The Dominion government to assume the full cost of relief for unemployed employables.

8. The Dominion government to assume the full cost of old age pensions and pensions for the blind.

9. That the statutory subsidies payable to the provinces for their surrender of customs and excise duties under the British North America Act shall not be deducted from the annual rental payments to be paid to the provinces.

REVISION SOUGHT

10. Following the ratification of the new agreement steps would be taken immediately by the co-ordinating committee, with the assistance of the economic committee and such other assistance as might be deemed advisable, to conduct a thorough examination of the whole Canadian tax structure for the purpose of establishing a new and revised system of taxation which would leave clearly defined and clearly divided taxing powers to the Dominion and provincial governments.

11. That the Dominion government undertake that if, within the terms of the new agreement, a satisfactory basis should not be established for an improved system of taxation, it would reduce its taxes on corporation and personal incomes sufficiently to enable the provinces to re-enter those fields of direct taxation upon the termination of the agreement now under discussion.

Mr. Drew explained his speech had been prepared before he heard Mr. King's remarks. He said the federal proposals with respect to succession duties, gasoline and amusement taxes were new but did not substantially change what he had to say.

Mr. Drew added that "except to the extent they may be varied by anything that happens here this morning" Ontario would stand on the proposals it made in its brief of January,

Debt Charges Cost Victoria More Than Any Other Item

Debt charges of $325,007 will cost the city more than any other item, amounting to nearly one-fifth of the entire budget, according to final estimates before the city council today.

Estimated expenditures this year of $2,819,781 are an increase of $63,242 over last year. The figure includes, however, a reserve and contingency and of $131,000 which has not been earmarked for any specific purpose.

The tax this year will yield $3,577,145 which provides for a budget surplus of approximately $2,000, according to estimate of D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller. The tax yield last year was $1,545,116.

Westminster Abbey Dean Dies at 67

LONDON (CP)—Rev. Paul de Labilliere, D.D., 67, Dean of Westminster Abbey, died Sunday in hospital.

The Dean entered the hospital three weeks ago for a rest, following a breakdown attributed to the strain of the war. Although bombed out of his Dean's residence, he continued to conduct services in the Abbey despite air raids.

During the war Dr. de Labilliere sent to Prime Minister King a chart showing the hiding-place of the Coronation Stone in Islop Chapel, Westminster Abbey. The chart was deposited in a vault of the Bank of Canada. Only two men knew where the stone was hidden.

Peace Conference Rubber Stamp For Big Four Foreign Ministers

By ROSS MUNRO

PARIS (CP)—The peace conference of 21 countries, including Canada, scheduled to be convened here after the conclusion of the current Big Four parley, in reality may be only a rubber-stamp meeting to give formal sanction to decisions reached by the Foreign Ministers of Britain, the United States, Russia and France.

There is a widely-held opinion that the Big Four deliberations constitute the real peace conference and that the representatives of other countries, when they come here, will be presented with almost unalterable decisions on the peace treaties.

Some diplomatic sources expect a strong protest will be made by the middle-sized powers should this development occur. H. V. Evatt, Australia's outspoken External Affairs Minister, is one who is likely to speak forcefully against any dictatorship by the Big Four in the question of European treaty-making.

The original plan for European settlements called for the deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four to draft treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland. The Council of Foreign Ministers would simply approve them before they went before the 21-power conference for discussion and adoption.

The fact that none of the Big Four seem disposed to turn the whole difficult matter over to the 21-power conference leads to the general conclusion that the actual reshaping of Europe will be done here during the next week or two by the Big Four and that the decisions probably will stand as an accomplished fact.

Plans are being made, nevertheless, to hold the peace conference here. A Canadian source said it is unlikely to take place until after the French elections June 6, although everything depends on what the Foreign Ministers' meeting achieves.

It is learned that Prime Minister King would like to attend the big conference if at all possible and should it be delayed until fairly late in the year he probably would be able to come. A small Canadian delegation would accompany him.

Years May Be Growing Colder Says U.S. Weather Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world may be started on a half-century of progressively colder weather, says the United States weather bureau.

A reversal of the 50-year, world-wide trend toward steadily warmer weather began for the United States, at least, about five years ago, the bureau said in a statement at the week-end.

"This does not mean that it will freeze this summer or that next year's snowstorms will be appreciably worse than last," it added. "It could happen that this summer would be the hottest ever and next winter unusually mild."

"But if the cycle continues downward for the next half century as it has continued upward in the past, it may mean a return of the cold winters that existed when grandpa was a boy."

"Grandpa is right," said the bureau, in maintaining that "the winters were colder and the snow deeper when he was young."

Special charts prepared recently "show unmistakably that, until the last few years at least, the temperature throughout the world has become steadily warmer," despite many year-to-year variations, the bureau declared.

In Toronto, Dr. E. W. Hewson of the Dominion Meteorological Service told the Canadian Press he doubted if anyone had direct and authentic observations covering a long enough period to make factual predictions of long-range cycles of temperature changes.

"Certain weather variations are known to occur," he said, "but it is difficult if not impossible to say whether or for how long a particular trend is going to continue. Here in Toronto, for instance, we have a record of observations covering only the last 100 years or so, and you need a much longer period than that if you're going to talk about cycles."

Uganda Crew First To Get New Tallies

First R.C.N. crew since 1939 to be issued with hat bands giving the name of its ship is the crew of the touring cruiser Uganda, now headed back for Esquimaux, according to a Canadian Press dispatch from Ottawa.

About 2,000 tallies, as the bands are called, were shipped to Rio de Janeiro when the cruiser called there.

Tallies were reduced in wartime to the mere formality of H.M.C.S. Names of ships were dropped as a security measure.

New Canadian Tax May Finance All Social Security Schemes

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Times Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA—Finance Minister J. L. Tisley is understood to be preparing a surprise for the people of Canada in his forthcoming budget in the form of a social security tax.

The levy, as it is envisaged here, would take the form of a flat percentage on incomes, with a very low exemption base and a ceiling of probably $3,000. It would aim at a total revenue of almost $500,000,000, and its purpose would be to finance the social security legislation—old age pensions, unemployment insurance, family allowances and health insurance.

The impost would remind Canadian these social services are policies which do not come as manna from heaven, but must be paid for out of their pockets.

TO EASE PRESSURE

Such a tax also, is looked on as the administration's only hope of being freed from pressure to provide constantly widening social services to the full limits of its revenues. The Finance Minister is anxious to effect cyclical budgeting. Only by having social services come out of a specific social security tax, which would increase automatically as the services broaden, can Mr. Tisley see any hope of having surpluses of general revenue left with which to follow the cyclical budgeting.

Belgium Needs 50,000 Tons More Of Wheat At Beginning of May

BRUSSELS (Reuter)—Food officials describe Belgium's food situation as "good but precarious."

One government official said: "If we do not receive a further consignment of 50,000 tons of wheat at the beginning of next month we shall have to make another cut in the bread ration, which two weeks ago was reduced from 450 to 400 grams."

The present reduction in the bread ration is tedious for Belgians who derive 55 per cent of their 1,800 ration calories a day from bread. It is feared this will shortly be accentuated by a shortage of potatoes.

The ration of pastry or pastry flour and of jam already has been cut by 50 per cent and the previous 300-grams a month of French butter has been replaced by 100 grams of French butter and 100 grams of a butter spread.

The main effect of this belt-tightening is not that the people must go hungry but that they must spend more on other foods which are either on their ration or are available on the black market.

A slight cut in the meat ration is compensated by eggs available in any quantity at 8 cents.

Little Shrines In Prague Show Where Patriots Gave Lives

PRAGUE (AP)—Little shrines throughout Prague—in doorways, on the post office steps, at street corners, keep alive the story of how the people of this city rose in revolt against the German occupying force a year ago, just a few days before the end of the war in Europe.

These altar-like memorials marking the spots where revolutionists were killed, consists of fresh flowers, black mourning cloth, photographs of the victims and a framed inscription bearing their names and the dates they died.

Families and friends tend the shrines and replace the flowers constantly. Soldiers salute the shrines in passing.

Approximately 5,000 Czech men, women and children are estimated unofficially to have lost their lives in the uprising. The number of Germans killed is unknown.

The outside world knew little of the battle at the time.

The revolution began May 4, 1945, when citizens, stirred by reports that both the Russian and U.S. armies were approaching the city, gathered in St. Wenceslas Square and ripped German inscriptions from stores and street-cars.

The Germans retaliated with small arms fire, brought tanks into the city, and succeeded in clearing the streets.

On May 5—Generally regarded as the date of the actual uprising—Czechs disarmed some Germans to augment their own scanty supply of weapons.

On May 8, the Germans signed a capitulation. The German army withdrew from the city.

At dawn May 9 the first Russian tanks reached Prague and barricades hastily were opened.

That night the shrines were erected in the hooks and corners of buildings which now bear bullet nicks testifying how the Czechs attempted on their own to end six years of enemy occupation.

mitted suicide, police worked today to try and learn definitely the manner of the Hungarian tobacco farmer's death.

The body was found in a blood-spattered automobile in a farmyard two miles east of Otterville, in Oxford County.

Hossos held a revolver in his death clutch, but despite this police said "there was evidence his death may not have been suicide."

His friend, Charles Vessenyi, with whom Hossos spent Saturday night, found the body Sunday, slumped in the front seat of the car. Police said they could find no traces of powder marks and they discovered fresh blood stains in the rear of the car.

Vessenyi told police, Hossos "had been despondent lately."

WILL MR. GROMYKO AGREE?

BEFORE THIS IS READ IT IS HIGHLY probable the United Nations Security Council will have decided whether to "investigate" Franco's Spain or embark on another "procedural" wrangle in view of Russia's antipathy to majority opinion in this particular matter. Advice from New York as to this is written suggest that Soviet delegate Gromyko is apparently unmoved in his belief that the existence of the present regime in Madrid, with its alleged connivance with or sanction of Nazi machinations within its territory, constitutes a threat to the peace and security of the world.

This interpretation of El Caudillo's importance or capacity to stir up trouble on a major scale may or may not be over-emphasized; all the world once laughed at Adolf Hitler and tried to write him off as a harmless upstart. But the case of the Spanish dictator is not quite analogous with that of the Fuehrer's struttings prior to the reoccupation of the demilitarized Rhineland a decade ago. The Second World War and the existence of the United Nations Organization supply directives which practically all of the world's statesmen are observing. It is nevertheless prudent to bear in mind Franco's association with both Hitler and Mussolini and his open protestations of desire for the supremacy of totalitarianism over democratic doctrines and practices.

For this reason, however, it is not surprising that nine or 10 of the 11-member Security Council are in favor of the Australian proposal for an inquiry into those conditions in Spain which remind the world only too vividly of the rising tide of Nazism in the mid-thirties. And since the Soviet Union through her principal spokesman Vyacheslav Molotov at the San Francisco Conference a year ago advocated a similar procedure in the case of Argentina's bid for a seat at the gathering, Mr. Gromyko ought to find it comparatively simple to agree to the investigational method.

Arbitrary action, such as a complete breach of diplomatic relations, economic sanctions, or the threat of force, might conceivably lead to bloodshed. The people of Spain must be spared further dislocation of their domestic scene if it is possible to speed their delivery from Franco's tyranny by a less sanguinary formula.

PLAY BALL!

THIS CITY, WITH ITS FINE TRADITION in sports, will welcome the return of professional baseball at the Athletic Park tomorrow evening when the Victoria Athletics make their home-town debut in the recently-opened Western International League schedule. The game will be the first of its kind by salaried players representing British Columbia's capital in virtually a quarter of a century. But the long absence of businessmen ball players has in no way been reflected in a lack of interest in the game. Amateur baseball during recent seasons has been well supported. The crowds of the last few years have justified the investment made by local citizens in securing a franchise in the W.I.L., and those who are giving the team financial support may be reasonably well assured that their venture will capture popular interest.

In their games to date, the Athletics have won one and dropped three. On their home diamond, with the enthusiastic encouragement of the town whose name they bear, the Victoria entry should gain momentum. We wish the team success in the long list of playing fixtures ahead of it, and with that wish couple a vote of appreciation to the men who have been responsible for re-introduction of professional baseball to the city. Not only have they sponsored an excellent entertainment medium. They have, as well, made provision for a new interest for Victoria's youth in a field which should lend added emphasis to the fine human values inherent in sport.

DOOR STILL LOCKED

SOME "FELLOW TRAVELERS" IN THIS and other English-speaking countries were overjoyed by the political turn of events in Great Britain last summer because they interpreted the "leftish" complexion of the Labor Party's victory as a new link between London and Moscow. These politically-illiterate enthusiasts, however, were quite unimpressed of the British public's traditional concept of the basic elements of freedom or had failed to recall the oft-repeated hostility of the Trades Union Congress to the persistent wooing of the doctrinaire adherents of the Marxist philosophy. It has remained for Mr. Attlee to clear the air.

In a speech on Saturday, the British Prime Minister reiterated his opposition to the entry of organized Communists into the Labor body politic by declaring that their party "gives lip service to democracy," but that "it is essentially undemocratic." He was not bitter in his enunciation of the articles of faith to which he and his colleagues in the British Labor movement subscribe. But when he said that the methods by which the Communist Party seeks to attain power "disregard altogether the obligations to maintain the standards of conduct which alone make life possible in a civilized society" he was defending, with unassailable logic, the complete liberty of the subject in all its fundamental implications. He added that "it is because our movement is not materialistic but is based on the acceptance of moral values that we cannot work with those who reject our ideals." And: "We seek to build a firm foundation of economic prosperity," arguing, however, that economic prosperity was not enough; consequently, he was confident that the Labor Party Conference in June would reject the Communists' application for affiliation—mainly because, "while rejecting our principles, they seek for their own purposes to intrude into our organization."

What riles British Labor leaders, of course, is the extraordinary argument the average "fellow traveler" employs to show that "government by the proletariat"—which Generalissimo Stalin himself contends is far superior to the system operating in western capitalist countries—is, after all, the simplest democracy. Indeed, the parlor pinks, the self-styled intelligentsia and the "long-haired" tribe generally have a happy knack of condoning, or at least ignoring, such distinctly totalitarian practices as complete regimentation of the press, prohibition of criticism of the government, and police methods that are anathema to the liberty-loving citizen. Yet these same people who roll their eyes toward heaven at the mere mention of the Soviet Union regard themselves as almost the sole defenders of the people against Fascism and its doctrines. Every body with a grain of common sense wants to get on amicably with Russia; but mutual respect and friendly understanding between her people and the peoples who do their own thinking and are free to employ their own intelligence as they wish are the basic requisites for peaceful collaboration.

REMEMBER 1919 AND 1920?

WHEN HE ADDRESSED THE NATIONAL Retail Federation meeting in Washington the other day, Mr. Chester Bowles, our neighbor's Economic Stabilizer, confessed that he—like the members of his audience—was fed up on price control. No one in the O.P.A. was there by choice, and the whole staff was anxious to get out of the business; it was no fun. But, he emphasized the "but," the "big hurdle" at the end of the race is the difficult period ahead, which is an added challenge.

For an understanding of that challenge, Mr. Bowles asked his listeners to go back and read what happened after the last war. Right after Armistice Day, 1918, when prices and wages had both advanced over 100 per cent, the experts in government and business decided that the country had had its wartime inflation and it was all over. So they took off what few controls there were and gave the economy a free rein. Business took an $11,000,000,000 loss on inventories, and its reserves were wiped out. Profits that had been $6,000,000,000 in 1919 turned to $500,000,000 losses in 1920. Farm prices dropped 45 per cent. There were 250,000 farm foreclosures and 166,000 bankruptcies. Payrolls went down 55 per cent.

If some of his audience found it difficult to remember what happened in the United States in 1919 and 1920—and these remarks can be taken to heart by Canadians—Mr. Bowles suggested that there were untold thousands who had not forgotten the crash of 1929 and the collapse of the economy in 1932. In other words, if such conditions were allowed to prevail again, it would only be natural to expect that people would look over the record and decide they had better take over and run things themselves. The end result of that development, of course, might well mean the disappearance of free enterprise and free economy.

Canadians have had many similar warnings about the signs and portents which are manifesting themselves in this country. Perhaps at long last the word inflation is beginning to be recognized for its sinister import. It does not represent an economic abstraction for the exclusive consideration of the expert; it represents a condition in which the price of a basic food or other household commodity can go up from a dime to a dollar overnight. But wages and salaries do not go up with it. There is the rub.

LABOR CONDITIONS IMPROVED

FIGURES RELEASED BY THE CANADIAN Department of Labor reveal that strikes in Canada during January of this year were held to a minimum. A low figure of 21,000 man days were lost in all industry because of labor disputes. This record would indicate that relationship between labor and management have attained a high standard of understanding.

The figures for December were fairly high for Canada, with 261,000 man days lost, but the major portion of this loss was a result of the United Automobile Workers strike in Windsor. The January figure was 8 per cent of this number, while the number of man days lost in January, 1945, totaled 32,143.

Although figures are not yet available for February, indications are that the number of days lost did not exceed the January level. In general, the number of strikes in February were few, and confined to small companies. Whether this high standard of relationship will continue throughout 1946 remains to be seen. No doubt, there will be some difficulties as new contracts are renegotiated, with wage increases being the focal point of trouble.

If the purpose of U.N. is to preserve unity and peace among the nations, why all this talk about somebody's victory over somebody?

Bruce Hutchison

FATAL GARDEN PARTY

IN THE CURRENT TRIAL of our civilization for the right to live, I offer an important exhibit for the prosecution. It is a dispatch by Ray Gardner from Hollywood.

Mr. Gardner has been to a garden party with the movie stars and has staggered out in a pretty serious state. After partial recuperation, he rushed to his typewriter to announce his discovery that the movie stars are human beings. Miss Lamour, says Mr. Gardner, looks like a woman with a woman's shape and everything. Mr. Ray Milland is only a man and getting grey—a fact which seems to have shattered Mr. Gardner altogether but which, as a responsible journalist, he is compelled to set down. Mr. Crosby has children, according to Mr. Gardner. Margaret O'Brien is actually a child. Mr. Hope treats his guests as kindly as you would. Indeed all the stars are "quite real and human" says Mr. Gardner with a gasp.

I WONDER WHAT Mr. Gardner expected. No more, probably, than the public of North America which worships actors and actresses as gods. He seems a little disappointed that Mr. Crosby did not arrive at the party like Jove with thunderbolts, that Mr. Milland had no wings on his feet like Mercury, that Mr. Hope lacked the hooves of a satyr, that Miss Lamour didn't even wear a sarong.

Nevertheless, the facts have been getting out lately. Mr. Gardner is not the first to whisper that human beings inhabit Hollywood after all. When the stars recently started having babies in the ordinary way, instead of rising from the sea or springing, fully armed like Minerva out of the head of M-G-M, it was the end of an era in our modern Olympus.

BUT LET NO ONE imagine that this means the end of the old worship. On the contrary, it is deliberately contrived to increase the public reverence and the power of the priesthood.

The Greeks went through this phase long ago and learned all the tricks. Their gods also started out on too high a plane and proved too godlike for everyday use. The priesthood, was therefore compelled to bring them down a peg or two to keep them popular with the public. All sorts of pleasant stories were invented to show that the gods were not too far above mortals until Olympus became quite folkish. It was even admitted that the gods, like humans, sometimes erred, ran off with one another's wives and engaged in other harmless amusements which cannot be described here.

THIS STRATEGY was a spectacular success. The ordinary Greek or Roman, who had to spend his life in a dark tenement and a dirty nightshirt found a lot of comfort contemplating beings in the sky who lived on clouds and ambrosia, and yet were not too far removed from human experience to understand what went on down below. By cultivating the human qualities and occasional vices of the gods, the Greek tyrants and the Roman emperors made a good job of maintaining the mob in ignorance, obedience and poverty. A citizen was not likely to question the dictator when Jove might toss a stick of lightning at him or Cerberus bite him in the trousers, if he had any.

Now it is true that the citizens of America, even Mr. Gardner after his breathless Odyssey to Hollywood, hardly expects Mr. Crosby to heave thunderbolts or Mr. Hope to throw them to the dogs in the depths of Hades; but the power of the new gods remains unimpaired.

THEY STILL SET THE public taste in dress, morals, architecture, home furnishing and in a subtle distortion and disguise of the whole state of life in America. The Greek and Roman gods who spun their frail stories in Olympus were amateurs compared with the modern operators who have made a fairy story of the whole world and every week, or twice a week or more, lure the millions of worshippers into the temples to escape the intolerable reality outside.

For this, of course, they are to be thanked since no man can continually face the civilization he has built here and constantly recommends to the barbarians of other lands. But they don't do it for nothing. Like the original god, they demand their price and it is high. It is a false, childish and rather revolting scale of values, an entirely phony picture of life, a dreamworld constructed by stage sets for a public 14 years old, which must not be permitted to grow any older.

AND WHEN THE priesthood sometimes unbends at garden parties to delight journalists from Vancouver, it is not really coming down to earth. It is certainly not offering to accept the pay and living standards of ordinary men for more useful work. It is only dazzling the public and making it easier to manage, just as when Venus took on human form and made a monkey out of Adonis, another innocent young man who went to a garden party.

QUOTING

The most real difference between us and the Russians is a matter of language. We must remember Russia was never under the influence of Roman law, philosophy, and language, which have dominated the western world for over 2,000 years.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president emeritus Columbia University.

Mere sympathy cannot avoid mass starvation. To give us only a percentage of our demand is to doom millions—not to food shortage and malnutrition—but to certain death.—Indian food delegation to U.S. and Canada.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Affairs Writer

The question of how the United Nations' Security Council shall handle the Franco regime of Spain continues to be one of the serious international worries, and the week-end brought the interesting indication that the generalissimo may be getting set for a counter move in the form of a referendum to test the temper of his people.

Observers see the possibility of a plebiscite in the announcement that a census is to be taken of all Spaniards more than 21 years of age. Why 21? Naturally, the thought is that it has to do with the vote.

It need cause no surprise if Franco tries to beat the Security Council to the punch by having a referendum. This might be in the nature of a "vote of confidence" in his government, or it might couple this idea with the question of whether the people would like a return to the monarchy. Franco would agree to restoration of the throne if the pretender, Don Juan, would make concessions enabling the general to retire from the dictatorship without loss of face.

Prime Minister Attlee of Britain said Saturday that he "should like to see the Spaniards put an end to it (the Franco regime) as quickly as possible." Undoubtedly he had peaceful means in mind, both Britain and the United States, while anxious to get rid of Franco, are equally anxious to avoid the horrors of civil war. There is another school which wouldn't be averse to seeing the matter ironed out in that bloody fashion.

There certainly is doubt whether the United Nations would find much comfort in a Spanish referendum held under auspices of the Franco government. The question arises as to how much freedom of action the voters would feel they had under a powerful dictatorship—whether a referendum would mean a great deal.

The political pulse of the country hasn't been taken in 10 years, and under totalitarian rule people have acquired the habit of keeping their thoughts to themselves.

Letters To The Editor

PRODUCERS AND PACKERS

Your Tuesday paper carries on the front page in large headlines the following:

"No need for meat strike, say board." The board is right as far as British Columbia is concerned. I venture to say the same applies on the prairies.

The packers are well aware of seasonal supplies in normal years.

Unfortunately, British Columbia has suffered severely from grasshopper plague the last two years, which cost the producers thousands of dollars in feed, also in lost weight on their grass fed cattle, and crops that were completely destroyed so that grain had to be imported in large quantities.

Outside of those sold at the Kamloops spring sales, there can be few if any cattle left in B.C. fit for market, and little likelihood of there being any ready for market until July.

The prolonged winter, commencing in October with a heavy fall of snow, covering any feed the grasshoppers may have left, necessitated feeding everything for five months.

The story continues on your second page: "It's a fight between the ranches and the packer, the packer has been taking it on the chin too long."

That, to me, after close on 40 years dealing with the packers, as a beef producer, is as ironical as it could be.

Compare any beef producer's balance sheet with that of the Canada packers. Ever since the last war the beef producer has been in a depressed business. A few years ago a survey was made of all the ranchers in B.C. The result was the great majority were in the red, a few in good years made as high as 3 per cent.

The packers tell us that supply and demand control our market price. For years the producers have had no voice in the price they were to be paid. The packers made you an offer, which you had to take or not sell. We had no choice.

The unfortunate producer has always been exploited by the vendors of his product.

I wish to thank the Prices Board for protecting us from the grasping hands of these said vendors.

Employers Avoiding
7-Day Notice Law,
Trade Unions Say

The Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference, representing A.F.L. and C.C.L. unions, was told Sunday night by several delegates that some employers were asking their employees to sign releases every 30 days to avoid the seven-day layoff provision and holidays with pay.

The labor delegate to the advisory board of National Selective Service was instructed to take the question up at the next meeting of the advisory board. Protests will be sent to Ottawa on the lifting of price controls and on the current meat shortage.

Reports that lifting of price controls had caused the price of electrical equipment to increase touched off sharp criticisms of the Dominion government's policies.

A committee appointed at a previous meeting was instructed to make every effort to awaken the public to the threat of rising prices. A. P. Rayment, chairman of the committee, will shortly call a meeting of other interested citizen groups in an effort to enlist support to maintenance of price controls.

A letter will be forwarded to Ottawa by the conference protesting the lifting of price controls. Considerable criticism of the meat packers in withholding meat foodstuffs was made and letters will be forwarded to Ottawa protesting this action.

The conference seated delegates from affiliated unions as follows: A. B. Food, Canadian Seamen's Union, and L.C.; T. E. Thompson, J. W. Storey, Industrial Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 230, A.F.L.; T. A. Mitchell, National Association of Machinists, C.C.L.; Ray Simmons, International Woodworkers of America, C.I.O.; George Greenwell and Tom Carrington, United Fishermen's Union, T. and L.C.

Administrations In Western Canada

City halls in major Canadian cities west of Montreal will be visited by Ald. Diggon, chairman of the efficiency survey committee, in June to see if any of their administrative methods could be utilized to the advantage of civic efficiency here, Ald. Diggon said today.

Ald. Diggon and Walter Walker will attend the Kiwanis international convention in Atlantic City in June, and it is on his return trip from the convention that he plans to consult with civic officials in Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary on their administrative methods.

Mayor Percy George will write the mayors of these cities asking their co-operation. Ald. Diggon expects to be absent from the city three to four weeks.

Drama Festival
As International Goodwill Gesture

Encouraged by the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce and supported by 24 local organizations, the Provincial Drama Association launched a project which is new in Canada, namely a Drama Festival for groups of all friendly nationalities as a post-war gesture of goodwill.

The idea at once appealed to prominent and far-sighted people. The Lieutenant-Governor has accepted an invitation to open the festival. The Premier has consented to open the Pacific Drama Conference, which is part of the general program. Dr. G. M. Weir will speak on the final night.

The consular corps is behind the undertaking and the following countries will be represented: Argentina, Belgium, China, Costa Rica, Denmark, Mexico, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela.

Mayor Percy George will welcome the guests and the reeves of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich are patrons.

The plays will be given in the Royal Victoria Theatre and the conference will be held in the Empress Hotel. A number of sub-committees are at work on preliminary plans. Ald. Harold Diggon was elected festival chairman and H. J. S. Reynolds, vice-chairman. Other members of the executive committee are Ald. John Worthington, Ald. Margaret Christie, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Mrs. P. Edmund Corby, J. T. Lister and G. O. Cumpston. Executive director is Maj. L. Bullock-Webster.

ABOUT JOHN MANVILLE

ASBESTOS STANDS TEST OF TIME
Recently your J-M Reporter saw a small sample of John-Manville Asbestos Shingle which will make a good souvenir. You see, it's got quite a history. It spent 37 years on the roof of a building!

Yes, for 37 years this roof bore the brunt of snow, ice, rain, wind and the scorching rays of the sun. Yet, when the building was torn down, the John-Manville Asbestos Shingles were still as good as new. Actually, no one knows how long a J-M asbestos shingle will last. Not one has ever burned—not one has ever worn out.

That's why, in the long run, a roof of John-Manville Dura-bestos Shingles costs less than any other type of roofing you can buy! You can get a free folder on Dura-bestos Shingles from your nearest J-M dealer. Why not phone him today? Asbestos Building Materials, 707 Johnson Street, G-7314.

airport and approve the proposed plans for submission to Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, and Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, by Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the Greater Victoria airport committee.

The councils of the other three municipalities of Greater Victoria will be asked for similar endorsement at their next meetings, Ald. Gadsden said.

Ald. H. M. Diggon, another member of the airport committee, asked that the city take the lead in the proposed development by reserving the $30,000 which was set aside last year as a fund for postwar development, for the airport. Ald. Gadsden strongly supported this move.

Other members of the council, while admitting that the city should take the lead in fostering the much-needed airport development, wanted to make sure that the other municipalities in the area would at least endorse the plans and site in principle before agreeing to allot the $30,000 for the airport.

It was hinted that a delegation might go to Ottawa to take the plans, once they were approved, and to press the matter with federal government departments.

Better Medical Care For Far Northerners

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's far north, a vast loneliness, may be in for better things in a medical way.

It is believed consideration is being given to the subject of improving the harassed means and methods by which disease is combated among its sparse and scattered populations.

The war saw greater reliance on planes to fly ailing Eskimos south for treatment. To the initial, mild surprise that Eskimos got better instead of worse in a southern climate has been added a growing conviction that it might be better to use planes more often, even regularly, rather than trying to match the strategies of disease with the strategies of hospital placement.

Upshot of that might be an end of construction of hospitals to cover great reaches of scantily-populated areas and a beginning of hospital-plane service that would fly the sick to Canada's cities.

Tied in with that there might be greater inducements offered to doctors and nurses to go into the north, it is understood health officials realize the best services cannot be obtained for what Canada has been offering to the trained people she wants to go to out-of-the-way places for long and lonely months and years.

Soldier Faces Charge

LONDON (CP).—Pte. John Joseph Gellay, 21, of East Kildonan, Man., at Bow Street police court today was remanded in custody on a charge of robbery with violence. The charge was laid after Rev. J. H. Skepper of Not-

Pretty Mrs. Evelyn Dick, and William Bohozuk, a former well-known Hamilton oarsman, are seen in police court where they were committed for trial on charges of murdering Mrs. Dick's 10-day-old baby and her husband.

The DOCTOR Says:

SPRING MEANS ULCER TROUBLE

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.
My neighbor is back in bed giving his duodenal ulcer a chance to heal.

It is queer that, while ulcers of the stomach or of the duodenum have a tendency to develop or recur in the spring and in the fall, no one knows of any reason why this should be. Physicians warn ingham had been found partly conscious in a hotel bedroom in London at 1 a.m. today, bleeding from the mouth.

their ulcer patients at this time of the year to go on the alert and to start their management program just as soon as the first sign of trouble appears.

Most ulcer patients dislike the idea of going back on their own special program of living, but it saves time and effort in the long run.

Stomach or duodenal ulcer is produced by destruction, through acid secretions, of the lining membrane. Ulcer has been likened to a hole in the lining of a coat. If the hole develops in the lining of the coat, it is a stomach ulcer; if it develops in the sleeve lining just over the armpit, it is a duodenal ulcer.

Ulcer is really self-digestion of the inner lining. This does not occur under normal conditions; as most ulcer patients are nervous individuals.

ARMY PROMOTES ULCER

The increase in duodenal ulcer in the military forces is easily explained by the type of life our military people lead. Excessive military strain produces many ulcers which might otherwise have been avoided.

Ulcer patients know their own story well. They describe their stomach pain as gnawing, grinding, aching, or cramplike. In some of them it closely resembles ordinary hunger pains.

The pain comes on a few minutes to several hours after eating and it is relieved by food or alkali. It sometimes wakes them at night, but seldom is it present before breakfast. Crackers or a glass of milk at the bedside table is a good nocturnal pain-reliever. There is usually a sore spot over the ulcer, and the ulcer patient points it out without difficulty.

The best treatment of an ulcer is to follow the letter of your physician's advice. An ulcer patient does well when he takes suggestions from his own physician and from no one else.

Most ulcers respond favorably to medical treatment in the beginning. Those which refuse to heal, or those which are complicated, may be subjected to surgical operation later.

The best approach to the ulcer problem is through a better understanding of one's self, as ulcer is not a local disease. Every time a potential ulcer patient allows himself to be overcome by feelings of anxiety, hostility, frustration, resentment, guilt, or aggression, he is that much closer to having his ulcer come back or to making it worse.

Nazi Germany's dreams of world conquest were perishing in the flaming and cracking walls of outer Berlin on April 27, 1945. Dispirited Berliners are seen above as they warily moved out of the way of truckloads of Russian soldiers thundering through the wrecked, smoking streets. On this day Marshal Konev's street fighters held the southern half of the Nazi capital and Marshal Zhukov's White Russian army battered its way into Potsdam and Spandau. Here, as elsewhere in mortally wounded Germany, enemy-held sectors were shrinking rapidly.

3 Honorary Degrees At U.B.C. May 16

VANCOUVER—Honor will be paid to three distinguished Canadians in agriculture and in art when the University of British Columbia confers honorary degrees at the annual spring congregation May 16.

The two outstanding Canadian scientists in agriculture to receive the doctor of science degree are Dr. J. H. Craigie, internationally-known discoverer of rust-resistant wheat and now Dominion botanist in Ottawa, and Richard C. Palmer, superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Station and leader in the scientific development of the fruit industry in the Okanagan and the rest of Canada.

To be given an honorary doctor of laws degree is Lawton Harris, noted Canadian painter who was chief founder of the famous "Group of 7" and is generally regarded as the leading modernist among Canadian painters. Dr. Craigie, a native of Nova Scotia, graduated from Harvard, and later obtained his master's degree from the University of Minnesota and his doctorate from Manitoba, where he conducted research in grain rust.

Richard Palmer, superintendent of the Summerland Experimental Station since 1932, obtained his B.S.A. degree from U.B.C. in 1921, and his M.S.A. degree from U.B.C. in 1923.

Lions Entertain May Queens

Victoria Lions at their luncheon meeting Friday played host to the eight girls in the May Queen contest which the club is sponsoring. Seated are: Margaret Scott, Civic Services; Madge Stride, Spencer's Sports and Social Club; Arthur Quail. Back row: Patrick Russell, June Flinton, Y.M.C.A.; R. Morrison.

Each candidate was escorted by a club member who introduced her at the conclusion of luncheon. In the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel: Rosemary Hurst, Majorette Coffee Shop, Ltd.; Joyce Donaldson, B.C. Electric; Gwen King, Oak Bay Civic Centre. Back row: Hector Hood, Dick Spillsbury, Clarence Johns.

Smelter Workers (C.C.L.C.I.O.) and the Canadian Seamen's Union (C.C.L.) all figured in threatened action to gain the two objectives for their members.

The first and most definite strike action decided on involves the L.U.M.M.S.W. and was announced at Toronto Sunday night by Bernard Doherty, international representative. He said about 1,300 employees, members of Local 811, employed by the Anacosta Brass Company Ltd. of New Toronto, will take strike action Wednesday following a breakdown in negotiations between the union and the company.

Principal demands of the union are a 40-hour week and a minimum weekly wage of $34.40.

At Hamilton, Clarence S. Jackson of Toronto, director of the U.E.R.M.W.A., in addressing a convention of his union's District 5, predicted "major strike movement on the part of the unions within the fields of steel, mining, rubber, electricity and lumber in the next month or two."

The convention decided that every Canadian local of the union soon should take a strike vote.

On behalf of 50,000 workers in the Canadian automobile and farm implement manufacturing industries, more than 40 delegates meeting at Toronto discussed demands for a 40-hour week and general increases of $2 a day and two weeks' vacation with pay.

Victoria Nature Talks

By ROBERT CONNELL
SPRING IN THE WOODS

ON A RECENT Saturday afternoon I had the pleasure of going to the Gordon Head district with the bird section of the Natural History Society, and while the members pursued their special interest I was particularly attracted to the wild flora, for although we traversed several private grounds by the courtesy of the owners they were all distinguished by the careful protection of the native plants.

Thus the white fawn lilies were seen to great advantage where the paths ran through open spaces. The so-called popular names of dogtooth violet and adder's tongue are curiously inappropriate for this flower and well justify the remark made by Shirley Hibberd in "Familiar Garden Flowers," under this plant's European representative: "Observers of plants who endeavor to understand their names have usually a tough task before them."

The "violet" refers apparently to the purplish color of this only European species, the "dog's tooth" to the white bulb. "Adder's tongue" is another name given this genus but more properly belonging to the common moonwort fern and a translation of its generic name Ophioglossum. Our two species, white and pink, are so delightful with their beautifully mottled leaves that the term "fawn lily" is peculiarly applicable. It is, I believe, of American origin. "Erythronium" is from the Greek "erythros," red, which is not the color of any known species.

The dainty spring beauty with its flowers delicately tinted with pinkish mauve or magenta was out in damp places and the attractive "milkmaids" or slender toothwort was seen occasionally. The pure white flowers of the large-leaved sandwort are small but conspicuous by their color. The western buttercup, our commonest one in the fields at this season, gave a bright touch to the grass. What a contrast it is to the species known as Bongard's which was found in the edges of the woods and thickets, a coarse hairy plant often a foot and a half to two feet high, thick in stem and with deeply three-cut leaves. Its flowers are ridiculously small, the petals often only three instead of the normal five and even then more or less imperfectly developed.

The red-flowering currant and the salmonberry made the shrubby gay with color; the former varies in tint and both deep red and pink were seen. The osoberry was pretty well past flowering and the beginnings of the small plum-like fruits were already well under way. The sword-ferns were unrolling their new fronds and their more ancient allies the horsetails were also displaying new growth.

Most striking were the great perennial stems of the scouring rush as thick as a lead-pencil, while the young leafy shoots of another species were up and resembled diminutive conifers or even more their ancestors in carboniferous times. The licorice-ferns have had their day since the first rains of last fall and now are waiting their spring some months hence. Down the paths that wind along the high banks above the shore the large fringe-cup made a beautiful sight with its rich pale green foliage, leaf and stem set off with glandular hairs, but as yet showing none of the pale pink of white fringe-petalled flowers. By a misnomer it is called Tellima grandiflora; actually its flowers are quite small. On the rocks by the shore as well as in other open spots the little blue and purple flowers of "blue-eyed-Mary" made pretty patches of color, and a few

Norma Jones Bride In Ivory Satin

A lovely gown of ivory satin, the bodice styled with a sweet-heart neckline and lily-point sleeves, and the full skirt, slightly on train, appliqued with white taffeta orchids, was chosen by Norma Mae Jones for her marriage Friday evening in Metropolitan United Church to Robert S. Martindale.

The bride's full-length embroidered veil was caught to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a white Bible showered with lily of the valley and gardenias. Given in marriage by her father, the bride's only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse performed the ceremony uniting the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jones, 2587 Dalhousie Street, and Robert Martindale, formerly of Montreal, who served for four years with the Black Watch of Montreal. E. Holloway played the wedding music and while the bride party was in the vestry, Miss Elaine Harte, cousin of the bride, sang "Because."

Mrs. D. B. Taylor was matron of honor and wore a gown of coral crepe with coral veiling draped around her face with a tortoise shell comb. She carried a bouquet of blue iris and lily of the valley. Miss Agnes Wright, bridesmaid, was frocked in turquoise blue crepe with matching chapel veil and carrying a bouquet of rose tulips and white carnations.

Ray Douglas supported the groom and ushers were D. B. Taylor and Donald Forrest. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the rooms were arranged with tall baskets of spring flowers. How and Taylor proposed the toast.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride wore a suit of salmon pink wool with powder blue topcoat and black plastic accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Martindale will reside at 1590 Wilmut Place.

Miller-Summers Wedding Held at First United

At a quiet ceremony in First United Church Friday, April 26, at 7.30, Dr. Hugh McLeod officiated at the marriage of Lorne Bernice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, 2194 Bartlett Avenue, and Jack Summers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brown, 1981 Carrick Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dressmaker suit in leaf green, shell pink blouse, brown off-the-face hat, with alligator accessories. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls and her corsage bouquet was of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. E. W. Smalley, as matron of honor, wore a brown dressmaker suit with pale pink blouse, brown accessories and corsage bouquet of pink sweetpeas and roses. Jack Girau acted as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, where a profusion of spring flowers decorated the rooms. The table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, banked with white tulle and tiny sweetheart roses and flanked with tall pink tapers in silver holders. Mrs. G. Brown, sister-in-law of the groom, sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Because," and J. Girau proposed the bride's toast.

Leaving for a honeymoon at Yellow Point, the bride donned a brown gabardine topcoat over her wedding ensemble. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Summers will live at 1718 Leighton Road.

Gilbert and Sullivan rehearsal for tonight is canceled. To be held at the Church of Our Lord schoolroom, Tuesday, 7.30, in honor of Miss Joan Eminson, daughter of St. George's business meeting, S.O.E. Hall, Wednesday, 8.

Difference Between Liberals, P.C.'s Not Known to 7 in 10

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO—Here is a sombre fact for statesmen and politicians to ponder: seven in every ten Canadian voters today are at a loss to define the difference between Canada's two major parties.

ties—Liberal and Progressive Conservative.

While it will be argued that at election time issues arise which result in a clear demarcation between the policies of the two parties, the fact is that, at between-election periods such as this, the public mind has little or no consciousness of any broad policy differences.

Field reporters for the institute put the matter to the voting public as follows:

"In your own word, how would you describe the difference between the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties?"

To a third of the public, there is just no difference. To another large group, totaling 38 per cent of the public, any difference is either unknown or indescribable. Here is the way replies received from an accurate cross-section of the voters stack up:

No difference, identical, etc. 35%
Don't know 15%
TOTAL ABOVE 50%
Liberals for free trade; Progs. Cons. for tariff; etc. 15%
Liberals for working class; Progs. Cons. for big business and the rich 10%
"One is in power; the other out" 10%
Liberals more Canadian; Progs. British; Progs. Cons. more pro-British 10%
Liberals more progressive; more willing to change 10%
Liberals "broad-minded"; Progs. Only difference is in the leaders 10%
Miscellaneous answers 10%

OBSCURE TO WOMEN

To women voters, the dividing line between the two old-line parties is more obscure than it is to men. More than half (52 per cent) of the women interviewed were unable to give an answer to the question, compared with about a quarter (24 per cent) of the men.

Some of the answers, of course, reflect the political views of those being interviewed. For example, some of those who said they would vote Progressive Conservative today, thought the difference between the two parties was that "the Liberals favor French Canadians at the expense of the rest of the country," but this group, which made up about 3 per cent of the Progressive Conservative group, works out to less than one per cent of the national vote. On the other hand, some Liberal supporters felt that "times have been more prosperous under the Liberals." Again this answer was less than 1 per cent of the national vote.

Fact that such a large proportion of the voters are at a loss to define the broad national and international policies for which the two old parties stand, may have a bearing on the problem of non-voters at election time. World Copyright Reserved.

Adventures in Space: The Story of Radar.

By DAVID DIETZ
Noted Science Writer; Author of "Atomic Energy in the Coming Era," Etc.

(1) Every airport in the near future will be equipped with a radar upon its control tower. This always will be used by the control officer, whether the weather is clear or cloudy. For on the oscilloscope screen he will have at all times a complete picture of the vicinity and the exact location of every plane within 50 miles or so of the airport. This should prove of the utmost aid in issuing orders to incoming and outgoing planes and in directing traffic.

(2) The steady stream of ore boats and other freight-carrying craft on the Great Lakes will be greatly aided by the use of radar. The whole stream of traffic sometimes comes to a stop when foggy weather makes it necessary for ships to anchor outside the entrance to the locks at Sault

Ste. Marie, for example. Radar would enable ships to keep their distance from each other as well as to locate the proper channel. Thus they could be kept moving through the fog.

(3) Radar will have its lighter side in the future. It may be of use to hunters in tracking down game. Wild geese flying at night have been tracked by radar operators on the eastern coast of England. They were shown so accurately on the scope used by the British Army Occupational Research Group that their speed of travel relative to the ground could be measured. This was done in 1941 while radar was successfully turning away the Nazi Luftwaffe during its raid on England.

(4) Radar echoes produced by birds worried the Germans, especially just prior to Invasion Day. The echoes came with curious frequency from the air over the mouths of rivers. Objects causing these echoes seemed to be traveling at high speed, giving the jittery Nazi the idea that the objects were planes spearheading the invasion. It was first thought the echoes might have resulted from cloud banks. Now the British suspect more reasonably that the echoes were caused by waterfowl entering the river mouths for fish.

Tomorrow: Radar Goes to Bikini.

Committee Agrees To Roller Rink On Douglas Street

Approving an application to construct a roller skating rink in the 2900 block on Douglas Street, the public works committee at a meeting Friday, agreed that no broad policy would be laid down in judging whether permits for buildings should be refused on the grounds that they were non-essential. Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, chairman, said following the meeting.

Each application would be considered separately on its merits, he said. No permits which have been issued will be canceled. A recommendation will go from the committee to the city council that the city building inspector be required to refer to the public works committee any application for permits which might fall within the non-essential category.

45 Killed, 100 Injured In Terrific Crash of Streamliner

This aerial photograph graphically shows the scene of horror when the crack Burlington train, Exposition Flyer, traveling at 85 miles an hour, tore into the rear of another passenger train, Advance Flyer, which had made an unscheduled stop at Naperville, Ill. Eleven coaches were overturned or left the rails. The list of dead has mounted to 45 and 100 other persons are suffering from injuries.

Removing the locomotive of the Exposition Flyer. It struck the rear coach of the train ahead, appeared to stagger in the air, tore through the roof and plunged with terrific force upon the floor and trucks of the car shown above.

While one injured man lies on an improvised stretcher, made of a seat removed from a coach, another, right, beside end of stretcher, is pulled through a window of the wrecked car.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ballet for bobby soxers—that's the prediction of ballerina Tamara Toumanova, who foresees that fine art of dancing becoming as popular in the movies as the jitterbug. "Everybody in America loves to dance," said the Siberia-born Toumanova, "particularly the children love to express rhythmic movement. It is only natural that the movies will come to the highest form of dancing—the ballet." Heretofore, in pictures the ballet has been used only incidentally. The movie public will get its first big serving of it when Toumanova stars in the life of Pavlova for her husband, Casey Robinson, and his co-producer, Benedict Bogeaus. She is preparing for it by dancing eight to 10 hours daily.

Irene Rich has abandoned her bulls temporarily and once again has returned to the cameras. Miss Rich, who is pressing Sarah Bernhardt's record for returning from retirement, is working for producer John Wayne in "The Angel and the Outlaw" and is still looking as trim as a chorus girl.

She likes to talk about the bulls she raises on her San Bernardino ranch. She thinks they're wonderful and can hardly bear to sell them. She said she does much of the work on the ranch herself, and after shaking hands with her, I believe it.

Plan Tender Call For Transit System Before Month's End

Specifications for the unified transportation system in Greater Victoria should be ready for submission to the Greater Victoria committee next week, Ald. H. M. Diggon, committee chairman, said today.

He had hoped to be able to call a meeting this week, he said, but several details still have to be settled. He anticipated that tenders would be called for the unified transit system before the end of May.

Although American experts had told him and E. S. Farr, transportation consultant, on their recent trip to Seattle and Tacoma, they did not think the trolley bus economic for the type of traffic and the length of haul that the Victoria system would give, Ald. Diggon declared emphatically that this did not mean he would recommend exclusion of the trolley bus for Victoria, nor that the modern transport vehicle would not be available.

He said that he would oppose use of buses which operate on diesel fuel from the system because of the fumes.

Athletic Park To Be 'Flooded' Tonight

Victorians will have the opportunity of previewing Royal Athletic Park bathed in the glow of artificial sunlight after dark tonight when final adjustments are made to the massive lighting array preparatory to the curtain-raiser on professional night baseball tomorrow. Eight posts and stands with three, four and five tiers of lights on each make-up the floodlighting set-up. It involves 170 individually powerful lights.

Victoria Athletics, scheduled to arrive here from Seattle at noon today, will work out under the lights tonight. They open against Tacoma tomorrow night, starting at 8, in the first local pro-ball presentation in Victoria in 25 years. Business manager Reg Patterson reports the main grandstand and its two wings will seat 3,800 and the bleachers, following on the end of either wing, will hold enough to handle a crowd of 5,000. Left wing has been completed, the right is now getting rush attention.

Austrian Leaders Say Country Bystander in Europe's Tug-of-War

By ROSS MUNRO
VIENNA (CP—By Air Mail)—Austria's two leading political figures, Dr. Karl Renner, President, and Leopold Figl, Chancellor and head of the government, both strongly believe Austria must remain a bystander in the political and economic tug-of-war between east and west in Europe.

In an interview at his home,

Renner said: "We are in the middle in Europe and at the cross-point between east and west. We must be careful of our friendships. If we choose to lean to the west it might antagonize Russia. If we would lean to the east it would offend the western powers. Thus Austria must remain neutral."

POLITICIAN 50 YEARS
Renner, 75, is a big man with a white goatee who has been in Austrian politics 50 years and knows the complicated European situation from the inside. Before the 1938 Anschluss the Germans tried to win him over, but he turned them down cold. Throughout the war Renner lived unmolested in Vienna.

When the Red Army captured Vienna a year ago the Soviet authorities called on him to form a provisional government which eventually was recognized by the other occupying powers, Britain, the United States and France. Following the general election last November, Renner became President and Figl formed a coalition government.

Renner, a Socialist, said Austria is anxious to become a member of the United Nations as soon as possible, and added: "Only with the full permission and consent of U.N. would Austria join any combination of countries in Europe such as a Danubian or Pan-European bloc."

In another interview with the Canadian Press, at the Chancellery where Engelbert Dollfuss was assassinated, Figl said the future position of Austria in Europe will be that of a "mediator between east and west."

On the question of four-power control and occupation of Austria, one of the toughest internal questions, Figl said Austria is grateful for Allied help, but wants to get full sovereignty back as soon as possible.

"We do not wish to throw off Allied control," he said, "but would like to see a breakdown of demarcation lines between the four zones which cut our country up and disturb the economic unity of our state in the most unpleasant way."

Ask Larger Grants For Student-Veterans
VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution asking that present grants to ex-servicemen attending university be increased $20 a month for single men and $40 a month for married men, was adopted at a meeting of the provincial command of Army and Navy Veterans in Canada here during the week-end.

The resolution also asks that income tax exemptions be increased from $660 for single persons and $1,200 for married persons to $1,200 and $2,400 respectively.

Members of the command said a recent survey indicates that at least one-third of the student-veterans will be unable to earn enough during the summer to enable them to return to university in the fall.

Spray Now to Kill Tent Caterpillars

Spraying to eradicate tent caterpillars, which W. Downes, government entomologist, warns may this year create the worst epidemic within the past decade, should be started now on Vancouver Island orchards.

Mr. Downes, who has repeatedly warned of the menace of caterpillars, said spraying should be done before apple blossoms open, but spraying of cherry or plum trees, most of which are now in bloom, should be deferred until after the blossoms fall.

All over Vancouver Island the "tents" of the pests are appearing on fruit and other trees and bushes.

The formula for the spray is 3½ pounds of arsenate of lead to 100 gallons of water. When only a small quantity of spray is required, two tablespoons of lead arsenate to a gallon of water should be used.

The spray should be stirred frequently as the powder is heavy and collects at the bottom of the spray tank.

To control aphids, nicotine sulphate, three-fourths of a pound to 100 gallons or one teaspoon to a gallon of water, may be added to the spray. Aphids are also beginning to become plentiful. When using the nicotine sulphate-lead arsenate combination three pounds of lime should be added to each 100 gallons of solution.

LAUGHTER DROWNED FIRST SPEECH OF DISRAELI

About two centuries ago, a Jewish merchant named D'Israeli left Italy, and settled in England. This merchant had only one son, and the son became a writer. In due course he married, and a son named Benjamin was born. That was in London on a December day in 1804.

Benjamin was sent to school until he was 17, then was placed in a lawyer's office. For three years he studied the law, but he gave up the idea of working as an attorney.

At about this time, Benjamin made a big mistake. He entered into stock deals and lost several thousand pounds. Years passed before he was able to pay off the debts which were brought about by the loss.

Benjamin decided to follow the footsteps of his father and earn a living as a writer. He made a slight change in spelling his family name, writing it "Disraeli."

Disraeli's first book was a novel, "Vivian Grey." He was only 21 years old when he wrote it.

Disraeli later wrote novel after novel. His books could hardly be called great, but they were good enough to put his name before the public.

At the age of 28, Benjamin Disraeli was a candidate for office, but lost the election. Two years later, he tried again to become a member of the British Parliament, but failed.

On his fourth effort, he was elected. The year of his success was the one in which Victoria was crowned queen.

Disraeli's first speech in Parliament was greeted with laughter. Before he sat down, he said: "I have done several things many times. I sit down now, but the time will come when you will hear me!"

The time did, indeed, come when Parliament listened to Disraeli. He rose to the office of prime minister, and ranks as one of the famous prime ministers in British history. In due course, he was given the title of "Earl of Beaconsfield."

VANCOUVER (CP)—Parent-child co-operative playgrounds, in which mothers trained in the work supervise neighborhood play schools for children three to six years old were advocated at St. John's United Church forum last night by Mrs. Gertrude E.

Would Accept Rationing To Help Feed Europe

By AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

PRINCETON, N.J.—A majority of the American people stand ready and willing to return to food rationing, if need be, to help feed the needy in Europe and Asia.

There are, of course, many practical considerations standing in the way of a return to consumer rationing in United States. There have been pointed out by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and others. For example, while the needs of Europe's starving are immediate, it would take weeks, it is said, to re-establish rationing boards.

The present findings are very important, however, as a measure of the extent to which the people of United States are willing to go in lending a hand.

Former Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, director of Unrra, has declared that a voluntary program is not adequate and has urged that President Truman use his war emergency powers to sign an order setting aside 25 per cent of all wheat grain delivered to the mills.

The question in the present poll: "Would you be willing to go back to food rationing in order to send food to people in other nations?"

The replies:

No 36%

St. Louis Gridders Are Playoff Victors

A hard-fought, rugged battle was the order Sunday afternoon at Macdonald Park in gridiron warfare, when Bro. J. M. Maloney's St. Louis College stalwarts retained their undefeated record with a 8 to 0 triumph over Johnny's Coffee Shop to win the honors in the short season of play by the Victoria Canadian Football League.

The St. Louis lads earlier won the league championship and Sunday's game in which they took playoff laurels was the curtain-dropper on this spring season of operations by the league. More than 600 attended.

Bill O'Connell, left half, and Steve Rynoski, quarterback, were the warriors of the college team who worked together to get the major share of the digits on the scoreboard. Their efforts paid off with the only touchdown of the game, Rynoski heaving a 15-yard line who crashed his way over the line and grounded the ball.

The other two points for St. Louis came from a safety, Ross Scott nailing the Java boys' full-back with the ball over Johnny's touchline.

While the Maloney gridgers went undefeated during the season the Johnny's squad was only defeated twice in all their starts—on both occasions the college being their opposition.

McColl and Painter Win Button Golf

W. McColl of Colwood Golf Club and Vic Painter of both Colwood and Uplands were successful Sunday in their challenge for the Uplands city buttons by winning from the holders, Bob Morrison and Gordon Verley of the Uplands club by the score of 3 and 2.

A large gallery followed the match and saw some excellent golf. The winners had a best ball of 66, with five birdies, and the losers had a best ball of 71, with three birdies. Next challengers are William and Walter Newcombe of the Victoria Golf Club. The match will be played at Colwood on May 12.

In the ladies' singles button play, Sunday, at Uplands, Miss Betty Ellis was successful defender against the challenge of Mrs. William Erickson, winning by the score of 2 and 1.

Hedlunds to Battle Winnipeg Tonight

WINNIPEG (CP)—Vancouver Hedlunds, four-times Dominion women's senior basketball champions, and Winnipeg Pegs tonight open a best-of-five game series for the western Canada title—and possibly the All-Canadian crown.

No eastern team has challenged for several years and unless a team from that division comes up with an invitation, the survivor of the Hedlunds-Pegs series will claim the Dominion championship.

The crack British Columbia team arrived here last night with the scalps of Edmonton Mortons and Saskatoon Bombers, but they were train-weary and tired after six games in nine nights.

Bags Hole-in-One

J. Leslie Bell, playing with Jim Murray, "Sandy" Watson and Harry Hodges at Oak Bay yesterday, achieved the height of every golfer's ambition—a hole in one. Using a No. 3 wood at the tricky ninth, Leslie "split the pin" all the way and the ball suddenly vanished from sight.

Wests Beaten 4 to 1

Quicker on the ball and playing a better brand of combination Nanaimo's kingly soccer squad took the measure of 'Victoria West 4 to 1 in an exhibition game Sunday at Heywood Avenue grounds. Alvin Parks was the big name in scoring for visitors, tallying three markers. Easterbrook got the fourth, while Gordy Bell registered for Victoria, the latter two being got from penalty kicks. Score stood at 2 to 1 at the half.

Women Eagerly Wait For Electrical Aids

TORONTO (CP)—Some 700,000 Canadian women can hardly wait to get hold of various electrical appliances that make home-life more convenient.

A survey by the Ontario Association of Radio and Appliance Dealers, which opened a two-day convention here today, showed 700,000 Canadian women would buy an electric refrigerator tomorrow if it was available.

Another 680,000 want washing machines, 400,000 want electric stoves and 32 per cent of all Canadian households want new electric irons.

Fred R. Cavers, St. Catharines, Ont., president of the association, said it was conservatively estimated that Canadian appliance dealers will do at least $100,000,000 worth of business annually during the immediate postwar years.

$5,516 Has Been Refunded Here On Used Car Sales

Buyers of used cars in Victoria and district in the past six months, have received refunds of $5,516, made without prosecutions and covering 2,384 statements of sale. A. V. Alexander, board officer with the appraisal department, War-time Prices and Trade Board, said today.

Buyers and sellers of used cars are required to file with the board, a statement showing the price paid for a used car and these statements are checked by the W.P.T.B. Mr. Alexander explained. The forms are checked with the official selling prices for various makes of used cars, and if too high a price has been paid, the attention of the seller is called to the infraction.

In Vancouver, over the same period the sum of $25,563 representing refunds, made without prosecution and covering 16,722 statements of sale, were received by used car buyers.

No May Day Holiday for Schools

The first of many confusing incidents which are due to arise with the administration of one school district in four urban areas has come up this week as Mayor Percy George proclaimed a civic half-holiday for Wednesday.

Unless further action is taken, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, said today, there will be no school holiday for May Day.

With Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich not observing the May 1 holiday, the Union School Board would be put in the peculiar position of giving some of the children under their administration a half holiday and not others if they were to observe the holiday in the city.

The only way in which the holiday can be given would be for the school board or Mayor George to make application to the Department of Education to have the schools closed on that day, in which case Education Minister George Weir stated, as a matter of courtesy the department would grant the request.

With Austin I. Curtis, school board chairman, out of the city, it is doubtful if the board will be convened to consider the matter before Wednesday.

However, maintenance staffs of the city schools will observe the civic half-holiday, leaving these schools without janitors for the afternoon.

School principals are reported to be in favor of keeping the schools open because children have just completed the Easter week holidays, and will have another holiday May 24.

Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Columbia Lodge No. 2, paid a fraternal visit to Duffan Lodge No. 17 Saturday evening. Some members stayed over the weekend to fish in the Cowichan district.

Hudson's Bay Company have requested permission to erect two street banners on Yates Street between Blanshard and Quadra, and on Douglas Street between Herald and Fisgard, to advertise the "Mulberry" exhibition scheduled to be on display May 10 at the Bay Street Armories. J. W. Oosterink, building inspector, recommended to city council the request be granted.

Incidents in his life as a soldier, seaman, circus acrobat, athlete, prize-fighter and fireman were included in an interview with Frank Merryfield, Victoria magician, over Port Alberni's new radio station last week. Mr. Merryfield was in Alberni to give shows of magic at the Canadian Legion and the Port Alberni Athletic Association.

Concluding a series of lectures on art, Delisle Parker of Vancouver spoke to a well-attended gathering at the Oak Bay Municipal Hall and gave the critic's viewpoint on modern Canadian art. Miss M. Nickerson was convener of this series which was sponsored by the Art Club of the Oak Bay Community Centre through the facilities of the extension department of the University of British Columbia.

Organizers of the May 1 labor parade and meeting in Beacon Hill Park expressed the belief today the parade would be the biggest labor demonstration in the history of Victoria.

"I feel it will be one of the biggest labor parades we have ever had in the city," said Robert Mezger. "I believe it will set a precedent for bigger and better labor demonstrations in the future."

Reeves Walter Walker, A. G. Lambrick and Thomas Hadfield have accepted invitations to address the rally in Beacon Hill Park at 3 Wednesday afternoon. Ald. Ed. Williams will represent the Victoria City Council in place of Mayor Percy George, who will be unable to attend.

Other speakers include State Senator Thomas Rabbitt of Seattle and labor leaders from Victoria and Vancouver.

Several unions, Mr. Mezger reported, have announced their intention to participate in the parade from Cormorant and Blanshard Streets which will precede the rally in the park. Some unions are planning to have floats prepared for the parade.

B.C. Should Father New Industry—Eyes

The B.C. government, in the opinion of newly-appointed Trade and Industry and Railways Minister Leslie H. Eyes, should treat new and struggling industries much as a parent treats a child.

"There is so much that can be done in research and co-relating of energies to assist them," said Mr. Eyes. "The big, older industries can look after themselves very largely. My hope is that my department can assist the little industries."

He believed British Columbia's future greatness lies in the development of its vast natural resources and the opening of new markets for its industries in Asia.

In his opinion the surface of B.C. agriculture prospects and mineral resources has hardly been scratched.

"Father of electricity" unwelcome

Benjamin Franklin was prepared to change Canadian currency in 1776, when he visited Montreal. He brought with him a large sum of Continental money, printed in Philadelphia; but his venture failed because Canadians were suspicious of paper currency. They preferred the Spanish silver dollar and copper pennies.

Franklin, nevertheless, was a shrewd man. He once said: "A man may, if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone." In other words, the price of financial independence is planned saving.

For the opening of the baseball season at Athletic Park tomorrow evening, Police Inspector John Blackstock announced parking restrictions in the vicinity. Cars will not be allowed to park on the north side of Green Street between Quadra and Vancouver Streets, nor on the east side of Vancouver Street between Green Street and Caledonia Avenue.

Death Accidental

Accidental death was the verdict of a coroner's jury here today at an inquest into the death of Bruce Ralston, 19-year-old Victoria High School student, who died Friday after a fall from a horse at the Willows. Dr. E. C. Hart conducted the inquest.

Dr. John H. Moore told the jury that death resulted from a broken neck. The youth failed to regain consciousness after the accident.

Sydney Travers, owner of the horse, a seven-year-old, said it was well-broken. He said he had ridden the animal himself.

Oliver Travers, son of the owner, told the jury he had given Ralston permission to ride the horse. He said Ralston had ridden the day before and was an experienced horseman.

Keith Ralston, brother of the deceased, said the youth had learned to ride when he was seven. He mentioned his brother had suffered spinal meningitis a year ago and since then had ridden every day for a week before the accident and had seemed tired.

Jury members were: K. W. A. McDougall, foreman; C. A. Ballantyne, H. S. Curran, R. D. Forrester, L. B. Howey, H. C. McCall.

Mark School Zones

School zones adjacent to Central Junior High School will be marked with a broad white line extending from curb to curb, it was decided at today's council meeting, on the recommendation of the public works committee. This school is to be done first as an experiment, and large arrows will be placed inside the white line to show motorists on which side of the line the zone is located.

The committee also recommended construction of a crushed rock sidewalk on the north side of Hillside Ave. between Doncaster and Gosworth, costing $500; a gravel sidewalk on Tolmie Ave. between Fifth and Quadra Sts., $185, and installation of 150 feet of sewer on Selkirk Ave., costing $500.

10 Cars Involved In Mishaps At Week-End; Injuries Slight

Ten cars involved in four week-end accidents on the Island Highway and Gorge Road were damaged badly but drivers and passengers escaped serious injury.

W. D. Anderson and Mrs. P. Anderson, 1859 Fern Street, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at midnight Saturday suffering from shock and bruises in a three-car accident on Gorge Road.

Saanich police said Anderson's car collided with a parked car owned by A. W. Turner, Wishart Road. The Anderson machine was in turn struck by a truck driven by Douglas M. Emery, 1645 Broadmead Avenue.

Another three-car collision occurred at the Thetis Lake Road intersection at the Island Highway Saturday evening, B.C. police reported. Drivers of the cars involved were Gavin Jack, Torquay Drive; Albert Holmes, 341 Vancouver Street, and L.

Anderson, Nanaimo, Jack received cuts to his face in the collision.

SEEK HIT-RUN DRIVER

B.C. police are seeking a hit-and-run driver whose light green sedan was reported to have side-swiped a car driven by Sgt. R. Kilmer, R.C.M.P., Esquimalt, on the Island Highway near the Craigflower Bridge at 8:20 Saturday evening. The policeman's car was southbound on a sharp curve and the other machine was coming in the opposite direction. Damage was extensive to the Kilmer car, and it is believed the unknown car was damaged considerably.

In a fourth accident two cars smashed nearly head-on near the Colwood Golf Course on the Island Highway early Sunday morning. Drivers of the cars, Miss A. Larson, Shawnigan Lake, and Sakdir Singh, a Hindu, Langford, miraculously escaped injury.

Better Industrial Management Most Important Peace Factor

Most potent influence for peace is an enlightened management technique throughout the world of industry, A. P. Young of the British Ministry of Information told, the Canadian Club here today.

"The world of industry," said Mr. Young, "is now the dynamic centre of life. Nothing is of greater importance than bringing about better management."

He listed growing, mining, making and moving as the four great occupations of man, today. Seventy per cent of the world's population, he said, were engaged in the first two.

Mr. Young told the meeting that better conditions could be effected through application of democratic principles in management and clarity concerning the purpose of industry which he described as service.

"This means," he said, "that the industrial team from the highest to the lowest level must be striving to secure maximum service to the consumer. Quality, price and timing must be integrated with the elevation of labor's social conditions."

Mr. Young said that Britain was on the verge of setting up a management institute. He saw the necessity of similar institutes in every country.

Britain, he said, had foreseen the changed status of industry. This had been one of the chief reasons for the election results of last year.

"Britain," he said, "is on the threshold of the greatest period in her history. Great changes are now being clearly revealed."

STARTS TODAY!

RAY MILLAND
with Patric Knowles - Cecil Kellaway
Reginald Owen - Constance Collier
A MITCHELL LEISEN Production

COMING SOON
"Bells of St. Mary"

LOVE IN 18TH CENTURY LONDON is recreated by Ray Milland and Paulette Goddard in Paramount's "Kitty," the racey story of a red-headed hussy and the men who helped her rise to the top of English society. The film, now at the Capitol Theatre, was adapted from the sensational novel of the same name.

British Film In Technicolor

The eye-filling, color-splashed G.C.F. film, "Colonel Blimp," which opened today at the York Theatre through United Artists release, tells a gripping, romantic story which throws the whole pageant of British life, from the Boer War to World War II into relief against a moving panorama of great beauty and pulse-throbbing action.

Written, produced in lavish Technicolor and directed by the famous team of Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, it is by far the most brilliant and entertaining film to come out of the British studios in years. Co-starring in it are Anton Walbrook, well-known here for his work in "The Invaders," and two fine English players, Roger Livesey and Deborah Kerr.

Romantic Story Comes to Atlas

The two brilliant stars of the highly successful "Journey for Margaret," are reunited in RKO Radio's charming romantic comedy, "Those Endearing Young Charms," in which Laraine Day and Robert Young are again co-starred in now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

The story revolves around the romantic adventures of Young as a lady-killer, who seeks to add Miss Day to his long list of affairs. Ann Harding is seen as the girl's mother, and Bill Williams as the trusting friend who introduces his girl to Young with unexpected consequences. Sparkling dialog and titivating situations are incorporated in "Those Endearing Young Charms."

Synod Executive Meets

VANCOUVER (CP) — Annual executive meeting of the Provincial Synod of the Anglican Church will be held here tomorrow. Three representatives from each of the five dioceses will attend. Most Rev. W. R. Adams, Archbishop of Kootenay and Metropolitan of B.C., will preside.

Where To Go Tonight

(As Advertised)
ATLAS — "Those Endearing Young Charms," starring Laraine Day and Robert Young.

CADET — Greer Garson and Gregory Peck in "The Valley of Decision."

CAPITOL — Ray Milland and Paulette Goddard in "Kitty."

DOMINION — Dennis O'Keefe and Carmen Miranda in "Doll Face."

OAK BAY PLAZA — "Fanny By Gaslight," with James Mason and Phyllis Calvert.

RIO — "Enter Arsene Lupin," starring A. Carol Nash.

YORK — "Colonel Blimp," starring Roger Livesey.

18th Century 'Kitty' Arrives at Capitol

Once again Ray Milland and Paulette Goddard share stellar billing in another Paramount film. Both stars appear in "Kitty," Mitchell Leisen's spectacular extravaganza now featured at the Capitol Theatre with Patric Knowles, Reginald Owen, Cecil Kellaway, Constance Collier and Dennis Hoey also included in the cast. The story of an 18th Century cockney waltz who becomes the toast of English royalty, "Kitty" was adapted from Rosamond Marshall's sensational novel.

One of the first pictures to star Ray and Paulette together was Cecil B. DeMille's gigantic epic, "Reap the Wild Wind." This production did much to further their careers. Fresh acclaim came to the popular team in that sprightly comedy, "The Lady Has Plans," followed by "The Crystal Ball."

DOMINION THEATRE
Vivian Blaine, Dennis O'Keefe, Perry Como and Carmen Miranda head the outstanding cast of "Doll Face," the song-studded new musical hit currently at the Dominion Theatre. The 20th Century-Fox picture, produced by Bryan Foy and directed by Lewis Seiler, also features Martha Stewart, Michael Dunne and Reed Hadley in important roles.

'Blithe Spirit' For Little Theatre

The first amateur production in British Columbia of Noel Coward's smash hit farce, "Blithe Spirit," will be presented by the Victoria Little Theatre, commencing Monday, May 13 and continuing during that week. The production will be staged at the Little Theatre Hall, Langham Court, Rockland Avenue.

In the play a novelist finds himself playing host to the impish spirit of his first wife who is visible and audible only to him, while his living wife is convinced he is insane, is unique, and sparkles from first to last with the brilliant and witty conversation and dramatic invention in which Noel Coward is unsurpassed.

Elizabeth C. Smith plays Madame Arcati, the spiritualist whose mediumistic ardor materializes the troublesome ghost, Henry Worthington, recently returned from England and a promising career on the stage which was interrupted by the war, will appear in the role of Charles, the husband.

The play is under the direction of Audrey St. Denys Johnson, and the cast also includes Kathleen Baker, Ada Kroeger and Col. C. W. Devey. Completely new scenery, styled after the New York set, is being prepared by the production department under Stewart G. Clark and Les Lamb. New lighting equipment will provide the special effects required. The box office will open to the public on May 1 at the Marionette Library.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Women of this country are once again trying to assemble their hair like Joan Crawford's.

Max Factor Jr., the Hollywood hair expert, said now that Miss Crawford has been "Oscarized," she has regained her position as the No. 1 setter of hair styles.

Women all over the country are imitating Joan with the deep red hair.

"Last year," he said, "the style of parting the hair squarely in the middle and combing it straight down made Hedy Lamarr the leader."

He explained the new style features bangs and a non-confined shoulder-length roll. The color also is inspiring much duplication.

Miss Crawford pioneered the popularity of exaggerated lipstick patterns and the use of lip gloss to provide the moistly appealing, if slightly gooey, look.

"Of course," he laughed, "many women should never have followed this. I've seen some with lipstick practically reaching their nose."

Esther Williams asks what to do with the ears and tail of a bull mailed her from Mexico City by a matador admirer. It's a customary Mexican compliment.

... Paul Henreid plans to fly to Paris this summer, then on to his native Vienna to bring his mother to Hollywood. Sydney Greenstreet is pondering a fabulous offer for his collection of manuscripts by Thackeray.

He portrayed the author and sketcher in "Devotion." Ronald Colman has made a deluxe and financially successful investment in his San Ysidra guest ranch.

The Tex Harrison (Lilli Palmer) of British film fame are house hunting; they plan to settle here as both are getting good screen assignments.
